ABSTRACT

"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world".

- UNESCO slogan.

We are living in satellite age. This is important for the social change, for the development in information and communication technologies. Education is an enlightening experience which helps in making a meaning out of the complex realities of life. Education is the most important tool for women empowerment and women autonomy. No society can socially, economically, politically and culturally progress without the active participation of women as stated by the great philosopher and educationist of India, Swami Vivekananda. "There is no change for the welfare of the world unless the condition of women is improved. It is not possible for a bird to fly on one wing." He has rightly emphasized. "If you do not raise the women who are living embodiment of the divine mother, do not think that you have any other way to rise."

Makansu Pissis understood the importance of education and started school for the women in the 19th century. The father of Indian constitution Dr. Bhabhubhai Ambedkar once stated, "I will measure the development of the nation on the basis of the development of the women." The Constitution of India advocates for special provisions in the field of education for the upliftment of the weaker section of the society.

Thus, we can truly say that education is definitely a pathway towards women autonomy and plays a pivotal role in the empowerment of women.

Keywords: Women autonomy, women's position, Constitutional Provisions, Education.
